

Reeds at Hankou Riverside Park

Autumn landscape around Turtle Hill

East Lake Greenway

Burst of autumn color

By Li Yonggang

Wuhan streets are now alive with colorful trees and flowers.

The leaves of ginkgo and oriental plane trees are turning golden yellow; people can see them along the city's boulevards. Parks and gardens are among the most popular places to enjoy the autumn beauty where red maples and colorful flowers, including crape myrtle, dwarf pomegranate and even surprisingly cherry blossoms, can be seen.

Red maples brighten up Moshan Scenic Spot