

长江周刊

Changjiang Weekly

A weekly newspaper published by Changjiang Daily Press Group every Friday since 2012

President: Yang Shiqiao

Chief Editor: Michelle Shi

Editors: Echo Xiong, Sue Liu, Jessie Fan, Helen Pan

Photographer: Li Yonggang

Chief Designer: Chen Chang

Operations Specialist: Zou Yan

Language Editors: Zhou Xin, Frank Zhu, John McGory, Jason Stockard, Huang Hui, Liu Wei, Wang Jing, Li Junfei, Peter Storey

General Editorial Office

Tel: 86-27-85581559

Fax: 86-27-85581559

Write to us:

Send an e-mail to changjiangweekly@126.com

Scan it!

Read more on
Changjiang Weekly's WeChat

Sina Weibo: @cj-weekly

主管单位:长江日报报业集团
主办单位:武汉长江日报传媒
集团有限公司

地址:长江日报路2号

海外总发行:
中国国际图书贸易集团有限公司
海外发行代号: wk9388

Price: 4 yuan

Poets bring love and nature to Wuhan

Russian Dmitry Vedenyapin

Poland's Julia Fiedorczuk

British George Szirtes

Photos by Guo Lianshuo

The 3rd Wuhan Poetry Festival and the Hong Kong International Poetry Night were held together at a combined event at Zall Bookstore on November 27. Famous Chinese poet, Ji Dima, and poets from abroad shared their works with the Wuhan audience.

The four poets read their poems in their native tongue on stage. British George Szirtes brought the chanting of Water, Russian Dmitry Vedenyapin shared his feeling in the Reread the Adventures of Winnie the Pooh, and Poland's Julia Fiedorczuk expressed her thoughts on love in the Endless Desire. Other works read included the English-version of Farewell to Cambridge and the Chinese-version of Nostalgia.

The festival immersed the audience in a world love, childhood, nature and days gone by. They hope that more such expressive events will return to Wuhan.

THIS WEEK

AL-Shino, president of CISM: 2019 MWG will be one of the best

2019 MILITARY WORLD GAMES 3-9

Hubei girl on catwalk at Victoria's Secret show

SOCIETY 11

Australian picture book tells Chinese story

CULTURE 13